The Coast to the Highlands

“We recorded more than 400 species on this year’s Coast to the Highlands trip. Near the coast we found over 30 species of shorebirds, including the much sought-after Spoon-billed Sandpiper. There we also had ten Nordmann’s Greenshanks and Broad-billed Sanpiper, as well as Malaysian and the newly rediscovered White-faced Plovers. Several Chinese Egrets and a single Black-faced Spoonbill were also notable. At Khao Yai National Park we had extended views of Silver Pheasant and Siamese Fireback, three species of hornbill, and three species of broadbill, including a nest-building pair of Dusky Broadbill. Also notable were a female Mugimaki Flycatcher, two Violet Cuckoos, and three Pin-tailed Parrotfinches. Highlights in northern Thailand included three female Hume’s Pheasants, Black-tailed Crake, White-browed and Speckled Piculets, Crimson-breasted Woodpecker, Silver-breasted Broadbill, Black-breasted and Chestnut Thrushes, a male Gray-winged Blackbird, a female Blue-fronted Redstart, a male Fire-tailed Sunbird molting into alternate plumage, and a male and female Black-headed Bunting in the Tha Ton paddies.” Jon Dunn
